The PATH TO LONDON

Carl Lewis
The American athlete replicated Jesse Owens's feat of 1936 by winning four gold medals, in the 100m, 200m, 4x100m Relay and Long Jump.

Daley Thompson
Considered by many the greatest all-round athlete of all time, Thompson defended the Decathlon gold medal he had won four years earlier in impressive style, leading from the first event to the last.

Los Angeles 1984

A last-minute boycott by the Soviet bloc countries did not take the shine off another impressive haul of British medals, with Sebastian Coe, Daley Thompson, Tessa Sanderson (Javelin), Malcolm Cooper (Shooting) and a young rower called Steve Redgrave, as one of the Coxed Four, winning gold medals. The Paralympic Games were split between New York and Stoke Mandeville, the Buckinghamshire location which had begun staging what is now regarded as the precursor to the Paralympic Games back in 1948.
